Henry is a versatile cellist based in London. In the 2020/21 season he performs as Principal Cellist of the Sainsbury Royal Academy Soloist's, participates in the London Symphony Orchestra String experience scheme and premieres a new piece for solo cello by Stephen McNeff as part of the 200 Pieces project. Henry is principal cellist with the Ernest Read Symphony Orchestra and teaches at the Youth Music Centre in North London. Henry will also join the European Union Youth Orchestra for the 2021 Summer Tour.

Highlights from previous seasons include performing the Schumann Cello Concerto at the Waterloo Festival, a side-by-side project with the Nash Ensemble at Wigmore Hall and chamber music performances as part of the Thinking Musician Festival in Italy. Henry has performed live on Resonance FM and was a participant in the Britten Pears Young Artist's programme in 2019. In the recording studio Henry has recorded for Metier Records and Miraco Studio.

Henry's musical education began aged 6 at the Bromley Youth Music Trust with Michael Nebe followed by private study with Gillian Thoday. He went on to complete a bachelor's degree with first class honours at the Royal Academy of Music studying with Felix Schmidt and is currently completing a postgraduate degree at the same institution with Benjamin Hughes on scholarship. Henry has won numerous competition's both at the RAM and externally.
